April 2024

...let us give thanks, by which we offer to God an acceptable worship with reverence and awe...
Hebrews 12:28, NRSV

God's Unmatched Generosity

I write to you in Holy Week, preparing to enter into the three holiest days of the year, sitting in amazement at God's giving. His giving knows no bounds. The fact that "while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" is astounding.

God is not a miser. He has blessed us with life and country, food and clothing, home and family, daily work and all we need from day to day. Satan trains us to focus on what's missing in our lives. God showers us with blessings and we are convinced that we are parched. God floods us with blessings and the devil instructs us to turn a blind eye.

"For while we were still weak. At the right time Christ died for the ungodly." He gave us all—even His only Son that we might have life through Him.

A friend said to me, "You can't outgive God." "Challenge accepted," I started to say, but the words stuck in my throat. I realized what trying to outgive God would cost. I was truly humbled.

To outgive God would cost everything and still not be enough. He has given all. He has paid it all. He has done it all.

All that is left is Thank You!

See you in Sunday School and Worship,

Pastor Johnson

Katie's Cupboard

April Showers Bring May Flowers
However, nothing is fresh & growing yet.

Most recently St John's has assisted someone with diabetic food needs as well as food & housing insufficiency through Katie's cupboard.

Would you be able to assist us with "sugar free" or low carb items? Another need would be paper plates, plasticware and paper cups we can "pack up" as a set. This then is helpful when you are feeding a family with only a microwave and bathroom sink.

Canned meats such as tuna, chicken, Vienna sausage, SPAM, salmon, turkey, canned beef, corned beef, canned ham are always appreciated.

Thanks for joining Peter as Christ tasked him.....

Mighty metaphor machine

While moving to a new parish, Rev. Watt A. Hardworker lost his metaphor machine. His friend, Rev. Hesa Goodpastor, wondered how Watt could preach without metaphors. Another pal, Rev. Bloomingwhere I.M. At, remarked, "There isn't enough skill in all of us clergy to preach week after week without some metaphors! The 'Old, Old Story' has been told so often that people tune it out without metaphors to help them hear it afresh." He suggested organizing a metaphor collection to sustain Watt.

Hesa was open to the idea but worried that, with Easter approaching, Watt would be at a total loss. "What a catastrophe, especially starting out in a new church," said Bloomingwhere. "How can the poor pastor possibly preach Easter without any metaphors?"

Hesa added, "No 'butterflies emerging from the cocoon,' no 'awakening of daffodil bulbs after the long winter,' no 'flight of the Phoenix,' no 'resurrection as an image for a fresh start.'"

"He'll be left with nothing to say but that Jesus arose from the grave," Bloom exclaimed. "Just imagine!"

Following the 'Perfect Fool'

Theologian Frederick Buechner, who died at age 96 in 2022, explored how the "foolishness of God" (see 1 Corinthians 1:25) compares to human wisdom. He pondered the safety stickers that warn, "The life you save may be your own."

"That is the wisdom of [humans] in a nutshell," wrote Buechner. "What God says, on the other hand, is 'The life you save is the life you lose.' In other words, the life you clutch, hoard, guard and play safe with is in the end a life worth little to anybody, including yourself, and only a life given away for love's sake is a life worth living."

Buechner continued, "To bring his point home, God shows us a man who gave his life away to the extent of dying a national disgrace without a penny in the bank or a friend to his name. In terms of [human] wisdom, he was a Perfect Fool, and anybody who thinks [they] can follow him without [being] something like the same kind of a fool ... is laboring under not a cross but a delusion."

Trustworthy stewards

After making people in his own image, God entrusted them with the rest of his creation. He wants us to manage well our bodies, our minds and our earthly home. Consider these stewardship quotes from Christian thinkers:

"We ourselves are not masters of our own ability and knowledge. They, like our talents and health, are a loan presented for our use. We must live as people who know that such temporary possessions are not true belongings and that we must give account for our management of them."

—Albert Schweitzer

"Our God is not a God who discards what he has made, who is defeated by sin and evil. Our God is a redeeming God, a God who is determined to reclaim his fallen world, setting it free from its enslavement to corruption and bringing it to a final state of glory."

The Joy of Jesus

The joy that Jesus offers his disciples is his own joy, which flows from his intimate communion with the One who sent him. It is a joy that does not separate happy days from sad days, successful moments from moments of failure, experiences of honor from experiences of dishonor, passion from resurrection. This joy is a divine gift that does not leave us during times of illness, poverty, oppression or persecution. It is present even when the world laughs or tortures, robs or maims, fights or kills. It is truly ecstatic, always moving us away from the house of fear into the house of love, and always proclaiming that death no longer has the final say, though its noise remains loud and its devastation visible. The joy of Jesus lifts up life to be celebrated.

—Henri J.M. Nouwen, Lifesigns

Spotlight on Benevolence:

Lutheran Military Veterans and Families Ministries

"Serving with Christ's love those who serve"

"We provide free counseling, programs and services to military veterans, contractors and their family members."

Coming home, veterans face many challenges, bearing wounds seen and unseen. Lutheran Military Veterans and Families Ministry is there to help with the unseen wounds, especially the spiritual and moral wounds of war. They work with veterans, those still serving, military contractors, and families (who are often left out).

Now in their twelfth year of ministry, they have never turned anyone away. Based in Ft. Wayne Indiana, they have clients throughout the country, including Hawaii. All of their work is free. There is no charge to any of their clients. They take no government funding whatsoever. They rely solely on gifts like ours.

"We offer training, resources and assistance to congregations across denominational lines and to care providers, groups to equip them with the tools and information they need to assist America's veterans, contractors and their family members."

LMVFM helps veterans, contractors and their families re-new their relationship with God; Re-connect with each other; Re-integrate back into their communities and Re-adjust to life away from the battlefield.

Your benevolence dollars support this ministry.
